SUBJECT: Adilas, LLC Business Biography – A little bit about us.

What do people and businesses need? They need a way to organize their data and retrieve it as quickly and accurately as possible. They need a way to store and archive things for safe keeping. They need to buy and sell things efficiently. They need a way to track and monitor things that are important to them and/or their business. They also want to be able to show others what they have to offer. Each person and/or business may have different needs and the word "data" or "things" may be just as varied as the people trying to accomplish those same tasks. What if you could have all of that… in one place… any time of the day… from anywhere in the world… for a low monthly fee… and all you need is an Internet connection??? That is what adilas.biz is all about.

Adilas traces it roots back to a project that started in 2001. It started out as a custom write-up system for a multi-location used vehicle and trailer dealership. As it grew, they found that tons of other businesses needed the same features and had the same frustrations that they had already worked through. They decided to put together a full business package (a data portal or business platform) and sell it to other dealers, businesses, manufacturers, retailers, health care providers, and service providers for a monthly service fee. Thus, adilas.biz was born.

The heart of the adilas system is the ability to track objects and data over time. Most companies want to tell you what they can do. The folks at adilas.biz know as well as anybody that an invoice is an invoice, a check is a check, and a time card is a time card. What they want you to know is the how, the why, and the vision of where does it go after the original action. Each object or piece of data has a life cycle. What adilas does is help you track that life cycle along with all of the other pieces of data that get connected and/or associated with those objects. The entire process is very logical which creates a natural flow for inputting data and making changes. The goal becomes telling and documenting the story instead of just making a sale or paying a bill. The story becomes the cause and effect relationship of what has happened, what is currently happening, and what you are planning for in the future.

Adilas has tons of features and tools and can do some awesome things. One of the untold stories about adilas is what they are doing for the future of business and business data mapping. Many people use their services and love the flow and flexibility but have no idea how they were able to come up with all of that functionality. What they don't know is that they are riding on a linear time based model that has been developed from the ground up to take business logic and accounting in to a new dimension. They are truly pioneering the next generation of what is possible with a fully intergraded business platform. The adilas team is constantly working, developing, brainstorming, and listening to their clients and the input and ideas that are generated. Is it done? No, not yet but the vision and the map are there. Theory and concepts are taking life and providing a very stable base to grow on. The future looks very bright!

The adilas folks invite you to check out this revolutionary business platform in action. They are building and adding on new features all the time which are at no additional cost to you. If you are interested, email them at sales@adilas.biz or give Steve a call at 719.439.1761 TODAY!
